

HIS $200,000 SUIT IS NO REFLECTION ON WIFE'S CONDUCT

W. B. Blackwell's Action Against Havenmeyer's Grandson No Surprise.

PREDICT MAYER DIVORCE

Defendant's Father-in-Law
Tells of Estrangement of Couple.

The friends of W. B. Blackwell, member of the Union and University Clubs and lawyer in this city and dairy farmer at Morristown, N. J., and of John Mayer Jr., grandson of the late Theodore A. Havenmeyer and one of Morristown's wealthiest residents, were not surprised to-day by the announcement that Mr. Blackwell had sued Mr. Mayer for $200,000 damages for the alienation of Mrs. Blackwell's affections. Mr. Blackwell's only announcement regarding the suit is that it must not in any way be taken as reflecting on the propriety of his wife's behavior.

Mr. Blackwell is forty years old. His wife, who is ten years younger, is a noted housewife and has been conspicuous as an exhibitor at the Morristown Horse Show. Mr. Blackwell has a big farm, Ravenswood, on the New Vernon road. Mrs. Blackwell has been fonder of social gayeties and life in New York than her husband.

Mr. Mayer, whose wife is the daughter of Robert D. Foote, President of the National Iron Bank in Morristown and the town's wealthiest all-the-year-around resident, is in Newport. It has been understood among her family and friends that she has differed openly with her husband during the last year because of the intimacy of his friendship for Mrs. Blackwell.

"I know nothing of Mr. Mayer's affairs," said Mr. Foote to-day. "I believe Mrs. Mayer will stay in Newport all winter. I will make no denial that my daughter is estranged from her husband nor will I deny that she is about to apply for a divorce. It is not my business to discuss her domestic affairs."

Mr. Mayer is the Vice President of McGovern & Co., machinery manufacturers, in this city, and has not lived in Morristown for more than two months. His marriage was regarded by Morristown as an alliance of the Havenmeyer and Foote fortunes. Friends of Mr. Blackwell said that Mrs. Blackwell, in pursuit of social pleasures, found Mr. Mayer congenial to such an extent that through him she was able to indulge in amusements which came to absorb all of her time and kept her away from home and her three-year-old son.

This led to frequent disagreements between the Blackwells, and they have separated twice within the last year. Public comment on their affairs became general at the last horse show, when the abundant applause and enthusiasm of Mr. Mayer when Mrs. Blackwell was in the ring and his indifference when his own wife was exhibiting.

Mrs. Blackwell lived in Morristown several months ago and has been living at the Ritz-Carlton.

Suspect Caught in Hoboken. Wesley Boyle, arrested by Brooklyn detectives for his credited participation in the robbery of the Abraham & Straus branch store at Clarkson and Nostrand avenues, Brooklyn, and the shooting of Night Watchman Cavanaugh on the night of Nov. 4, was arrested by Chief of Police Hayes of Hoboken, N. J., at Ferry and Hudson streets, Hoboken, last night. He was held as a fugitive from justice by Recorder McGovern to-day after Lieut. Owens and Detective C. R. Wackerly of the Seventh Branch of the Bureau of Brooklyn had identified him.

HEAVY MEAT EATERS HAVE SLOW KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Backache or have Bladder trouble.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid, which excites the kidneys; they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of stinging, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which every one should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications. —Adv.

Teach Boys to Cook, This Expert Urges, So They Won't Be Helpless When Married

Miss Sara Curry, First Aid to Troubled Families, Traces Domestic Woes to Inefficiency in Kitchen—Modern Girl a Spoiled Child, She Says, and Should Be Put at Housework.

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall.

Three-fourths of marital unhappiness is due to bad cooking! Just as serious in the eyes of Miss Sara Curry is the domestic inefficiency of American wives and daughters, first emphasized in The Evening World by George W. Perkins, millionaire Chairman of the Mayor's Committee on Food Supply, and confirmed by Mrs. Christine Frederick, expert in home efficiency. Miss Curry is the founder and Superintendent of The Little Missionary Day Nursery, at No. 93 St. Mark's Place, but her eighteen years of missionary work on the east side have been concerned quite as much with the kitchen as with the nursery. Even in the two-room tenement, where she began operations with the munificent capital of $14, she taught the daughters of the east side how to cook. Last year she had large classes for them, for their mothers and even for their brothers.

Also by means of thousands of personal calls on poor families she spreads the gospel of carefully purchased, well cooked food, and of clean, orderly rooms. First aid to the housewife is this white-cheeked, blue-eyed, frail-looking little woman, whose advice and services are so tactfully offered that even the most complete slattern cannot resent or resist them.

IF THE HUSBAND DRINKS EXAMINE THE COOKING.

"I want to do all that I possibly can to make happy homes," she told me simply. "And one of the most frequent causes of unhappiness is the incompetent wife and mother."

"I am sure that at least 75 per cent. of the trouble between husbands and wives is due to the wife's bad cooking and her inability to make a comfortable home. When a woman tells me that her husband drinks, or that he abuses her, or that he has no ambition and is always out of a job, I ask her what she gives him for dinner and if she keeps her rooms clean. In a great many cases his offense may be traced to her slackness and ignorance."

"Not long ago I called on a woman, who immediately began to talk about her husband's mistreatment of her. Meanwhile I noticed that the table, set for supper, had plates and knives and forks on one side and on the other two old boots, a pair of trousers and a tooth brush. The woman had put a piece of steak in a frying-pan and left it on the back of the stove three or four hours. Till it was the consistency of sole leather. In addition, she was going to give her husband five cents' worth of potato salad and five cents' worth of boots from the delicatessen shop round the corner."

"I told her there was no nourishment in such a supper, and promised to come back next day with what she really needed for an evening meal. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon I appeared with uncooked steak and potatoes and flour for tea biscuit. Also I brought a broom and a scrubbing brush. First of all we gave the tenement a good cleaning, and then I showed her how to make biscuit and broil steak. When her husband opened the door at 6 o'clock he thought he'd gone up one flight too many and got into the wrong tenement. He didn't know his own home. It looked so changed."

"He booted out, but I ran after him and brought him back. Of course he was very much pleased. I called on the woman every day for a while and showed her how to make a good home. From that time she and her husband have been the happiest couple imaginable."

MODERN AMERICAN GIRL A SPOILED CHILD.

"How do you account for the ignorance of domestic duties among the girls and young women of to-day?" I asked.

"Sometimes the mother doesn't know how to teach her daughter to enter domestic service. There are far too many incompetent young women in business offices who might be efficient and successful in somebody's kitchen."

"You think that even the wife of a poor man can make an attractive home?"

"A woman can make a home in two rooms and live on 50 cents a week, for I've done it," said the social worker. "If there isn't much to put on the table, at least you can set it neatly. And if you know how to market and cook you can prepare nourishing, palatable meals for a small sum."

"The bad home is likely to drive the children on the streets, as well as the husband. Even the woman who is responsible for it will lose her self-respect and ambition, just as she will if she dresses untidily. Then you have a whole family ruined and wretched, which might have been saved by a little competence on the part of the wife and mother."

WILSON WILL ATTEND PAN-AMERICAN MASS

President Again Accepts Invitation to Catholic Thanksgiving Services in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—It was announced by Mr. Russell, pastor of St. Patrick's Church here, to-day that President Wilson has agreed to attend the annual Pan-American mass to be held there on Thanksgiving morning. The President, however, declined to attend the luncheon arranged to follow the church services.

The mass is an annual affair, at which the diplomatic representatives of the South and Central American countries are the guests of honor. Since Roosevelt's time all Presidents have attended.

Last year when it was announced that the President had agreed to attend the mass and luncheon widespread protests were received from Protestant churches throughout the country. They held that the President's attendance made the services semi-official.

WRIT REFUSED, LAMAR RETURNS TO THE TOMBS

Court Denies Plea of Man Accused of Impersonating Congressman.

David Lamar's effort to escape the Federal authorities of the Southern District of New York failed to-day. Judge Robert Sessions of Michigan denied his application for a writ of habeas corpus in an opinion remarkable for its brevity and clarity. Lamar will stay in the Tombs for at least a few more days. He is charged with impersonating Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer over the telephone in a talk with Lewis Cass Ledyard of J. P. Morgan & Co. The Lamar hearing was the centre of interest in the Federal Building to-day.

The prisoner's wife, who was present, was greatly agitated when the Court with a direct speech, cutting and conclusive, remanded her husband to the Tombs. She wept as she clung to him, then smiled bravely and went away with him as Lamar was led out of the court.

Louis B. Williams opened the argument for Lamar. His address was a repetition of his arguments. He contended the bail imposed was excessive. He insisted the Court lacked jurisdiction to hold the prisoner on the ground that another court had him in custody. On application of Louis B. Smith for forty-eight hours time for her attorney to prepare a plea, the Court allowed till tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

SINGER WORKS TURNED BY THE RUSSIANS INTO SMALL ARMS FACTORY.

PETROGRAD (via London), Nov. 17 (Associated Press).—The great factory in Russia of the Singer Sewing Machine Company has been taken over by the Government and will be devoted to the manufacture of small arms.

The factory of the American Phonograph Company also has been requisitioned for the same purpose, while smelting concerns operated by Americans are now being used to make steel bullets for military purposes.

Russia has lacked arms factories, having depended largely on France for her small arms and machine gun ammunition. It is expected, soon will remedy the existing deficiency.

"She always laughed at me," said Devine in his testimony. "She told me I was altogether too small, although she was not much taller than I was. She said she liked big men. The bigger they were, the better natured they were, she said."

"We were living at No. 71 William Street when she left me and went to live with her parents at No. 135 Stone Street. After that I went to see her and asked her to return to me. I said to her: 'Why don't you make the best of it? We are married now and you ought to live with your husband.'"

"She just laughed at me. Then she said: 'I've told you before I liked tall men.' Whenever I spoke to her she just laughed at me. She was always laughing at me."

"I sent my brother to see her, and when he spoke of me she just laughed. Every time she saw me in the street she'd laugh at me. One time she told me she thought she was too young to marry."

AMERICAN WOMAN HIT BY MEXICAN BULLET

Wounded by Shot Fired Across
United States Border During Fighting by Factions at Naco.

NACO, ARIZ., Nov. 17.—Both the Maytorena and Hill forces resumed firing early to-day, and a stray bullet, flying over the American border, struck Mrs. A. F. Krohn, wife of a Southern Pacific Railroad official, in the head. The wound is not serious. Mrs. Krohn and her husband abandoned their home near the United States custom house last Friday after it had been struck by a shell from the Mexican side. The woman was hit to-day by a bullet that penetrated the family's temporary quarters in the northern portion of the town.

The wounding of Mrs. Krohn was the seventh casualty among American non-combatants since the Mexican factions began fighting around Naco, Sonora. Maytorena started a brisk cannonade to-day, but elicited only a less reply from Hill's trenches.
